Introduction

Reaffirmation of the importance of quality public education probably was never more evident than in action-packed school year 1980-81. The elected representatives of the state's citizens--the Governor and the Legislature, along with the State Board of Education and the entire education community seemed to provide a boost to public education in West Virginia as everyone worked cooperatively to improve the educational opportunities for all its citizens.

The State Board of Education adopted new graduation requirements.

The State Board of Education adopted new graduation requirements, the first major curriculum revision since 1966, after two years of study and research and following public hearings throughout the state.

The new requirements, which changed the minimum units needed for graduation from 17 to 20, increased by one unit each the credits required in the areas of mathematics, health and electives, and called for full-day attendance for all four secondary years, beginning in September 1981. A task force was initiated for revision of the social studies curriculum to be effective in 1982-83.

Another major accomplishment was the adoption of a new grievance procedure to improve employer-employee relationships. This procedure was the first major change in personnel policy since 1971 and resulted from strong cooperation from the major education groups.

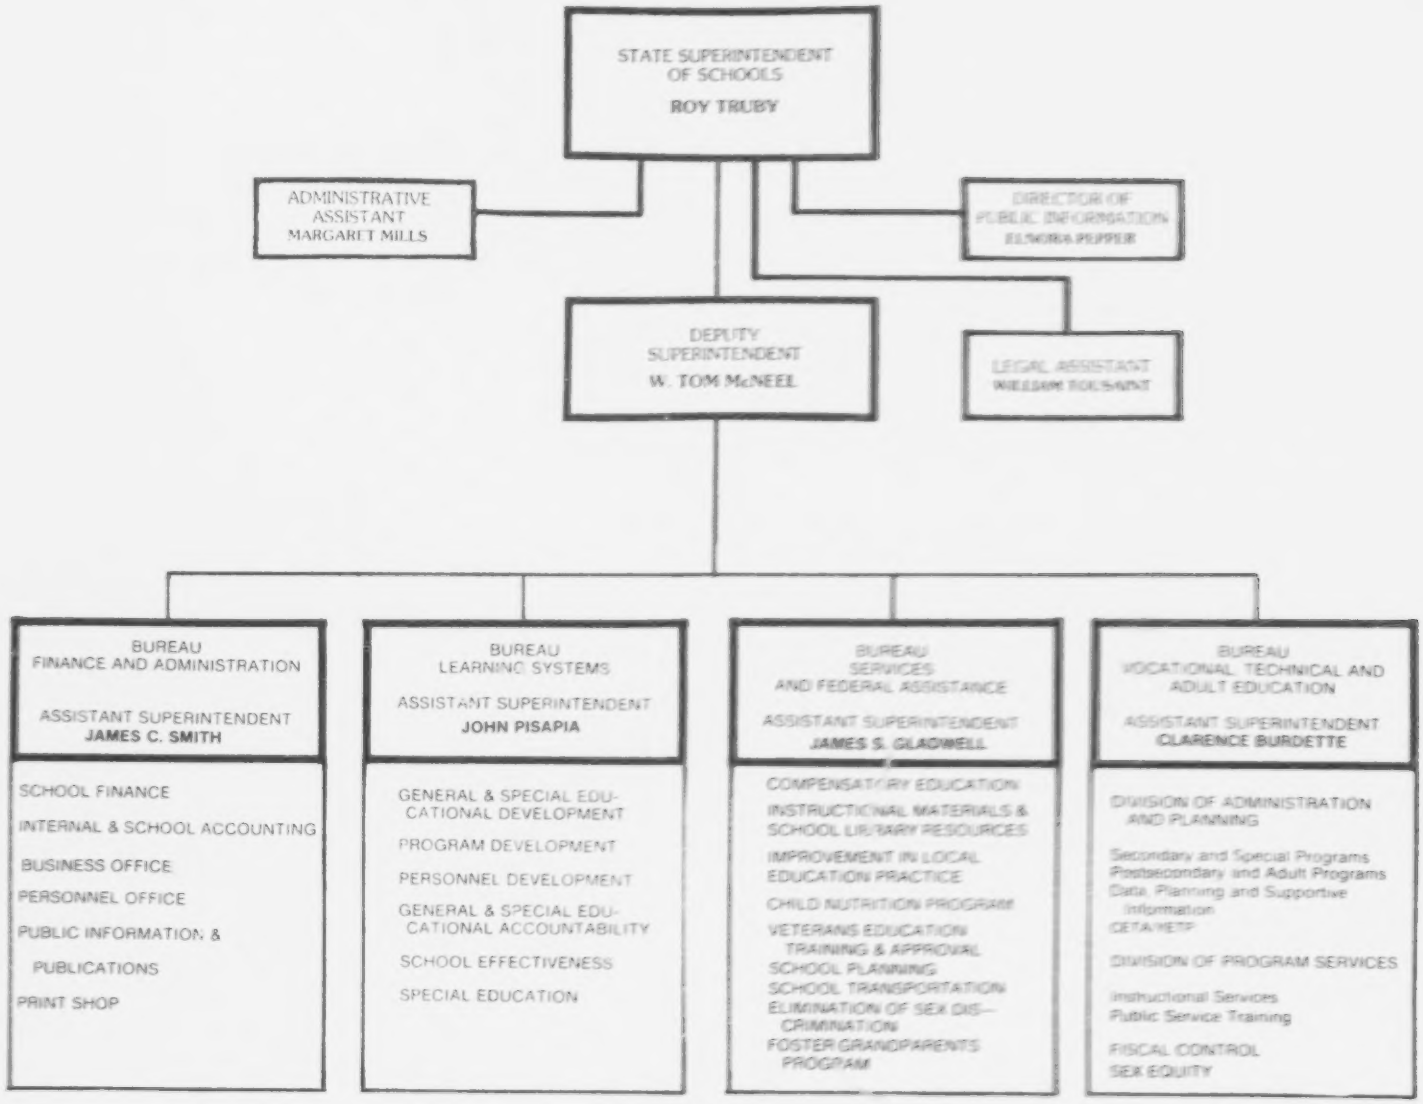
A policy for athletic trainers, which had been under study since 1977, was adopted during the school year.

The State Department of Education received probably its greatest challenge ever with the passage of Senate Bill 15.

The State Department of Education received probably its greatest challenge ever with the passage of Senate Bill 15. This legislation not only revised the state education formula and gave school employees an unprecendented increase in salary, but it directed the State Board of Education to establish and monitor standards for educational quality in a county-wide accreditation process.

ORGANIZATIONAL CHART

WEST VIRGINIA DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION



Bureau of Services and Federal Assistance

Services/Federal

The Bureau of Services and Federal Assistance was responsible for administering federal programs funded under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA), the National School Lunch Act and other federal programs.

ESEA I
ESEA IV-B
ESEA IV-C
ELIMINATION OF SEX DISCRIMINATION
ENERGY MANAGEMENT
FOSTER GRANDPARENT PROGRAM
MIGRANT EDUCATION
SCHOOL FOOD SERVICES
U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
STATE AID FOR COOKS' SALARIES
SCHOOL FACILITIES PLANNING
SCHOOL TRANSPORTATION
VETERANS EDUCATION AND TRAINING

The bureau administered the state funded school transportation program and the school facilities planning program to provide services to counties. The federal ESEA programs, migrant education and child nutrition programs provided funds and services to county boards of education; the other federal programs provided services only.

ESEA I

Federally funded compensatory education programs in West Virginia are under P.L. 89-10 (as amended), better known as the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Title I. The ESEA Title I program provided supplementary instructional services to educationally disadvantaged children who reside in school attendance areas with a high incidence of poverty. Most of the Title I programs were in grades 1-6. Additionally, Title I programs were funded to provide supplementary educational activities in state institutions housing handicapped, neglected and delinquent children.

During FY 1981, $28,566,253 of Title I funds were allocated to the 55 counties for programs to serve educationally disadvantaged children from low income areas. These funds supported programs of remediation in reading and mathematics, special education classes and supportive elements such as health and medical services. Approximately 44,000 students throughout the state received these services from 750 teachers and 1100 teacher aides.

Additionally, $125,881 of ESEA Title I funds were allocated to the West Virginia Schools for the Deaf and the Blind to supplement the existing education program. The West Virginia Department of Health operated Title I programs in seven state institutions with an allocation of $279,858. Children previously housed in state institutions, who are enrolled in public schools, received $143,935 of this amount. State institutions housing neglected and delinquent children received an allocation of $272,474 to supplement their educational program. Also, $205,921 of Title I funds were expended to provide special educational programs for children of migratory farm workers in Berkeley, Hampshire, Jefferson, Hardy and Morgan counties.

Taking into consideration those variables that cannot be controlled and conditions under which evaluation data were collected, it appears that the ESEA Title I program had a positive impact on the students served. Test scores shown on the state evaluation report indicated that the Title I participating children in West Virginia showed an average achievement gain greater than the average national gain for such children.

Test scores shown on the state evaluation report indicated that the Title I participating children in West Virginia showed an average achievement gain greater than the average national gain for such children.

ESEA IV-B

ESEA IV-B, Libraries and Learning Resources, provided funding and assistance for supplementing the total curriculum. According to federal law, the 55 county boards of education, the Schools for the Deaf and the Blind, and institutions with school-age children operated by the Department of Corrections had complete discretion in using their funds for libraries and learning resources (instructional materials and equipment for academic subject areas).

The ESEA IV-B funds were allocated to the 57 agencies listed above based on the following criteria:

1. Sixty-eight percent of the state appropriation for Title IV, Part B, was allocated on a per-pupil basis. At $2.182346 per pupil, including participating private nonprofit pupil.

Thirty seven counties identified the library/media program serving the total curriculum as the highest priority need.

The office assisted educators, students and parents in nonsexist education, the elimination of sex discrimination, human relations and students rights and responsibilities.

2. Twenty-eight percent of the state appropriation was allocated on a per-pupil basis to counties having a 100 percent special levy, but which still were below the state average per-pupil expenditure for current operation at $2.182346 per qualifying pupil.

3. Four percent of the state appropriation was allocated to counties in which the ratio of pupils enrolled in classes for exceptional children exceeded the corresponding state average with the funds to be distributed on the basis of the numbers of children so enrolled at $2.182346 per qualifying pupil.

During FY 1981, ESEA IV-B funds in the amount of $1,268,504 were used to help alleviate top priority need(s) in each agency. The following is a list of how these funds were used:

Thirty seven counties identified the library/media program serving the total curriculum as the highest priority need.

Fourteen counties identified reading as the highest need in conjunction varying combination of math, language arts, social studies, science, English and/or music.

Two counties identified mathemathics as the highest need.

One agency identified reading as the highest need (Department of Health).

One county identified social studies as the highest need.

One agency identified basic skills as the highest need (Department of Corrections).

One county identified language arts and English as the two top needs.

ESEA IV-C

ESEA Title IV-C, Improvement in Local Educational Practices, provided funding and assistance for meeting critical educational needs. Through the use of an annual needs assessment based on state board priorities and the State-County Testing Program, relative needs of each county were established by the department, with competitive proposals being recommended for funding by a state advisory council.

Approximately one half of the ESEA IV-C funds were used for the continuation of existing programs and one-half for the funding of new projects. Of the funds granted, fifteen percent was for programs for the handicapped.

Proposals for programs in all aspects of public school education were eligible for consideration. Public Law 95-561 specifically directed that demonstration projects in the areas of school house management and compensatory education be funded. A basis criterion for the approval of proposals was evidence that they could and would be continued by local funds once ESEA IV-C funding ceases.

The state ESEA IV-C office attempted to have as many projects as possible continued by the recipient counties, and further, to get other counties and RESAs to utilize developed and proven programs to meet their specific needs.

In FY 1981, 117 projects were in full operation, directly serving 65,000 children and 5,000 teachers, parents, aides, etc., in public and private non-profit schools at a funding level of $1,100,000. This included two planning proposals, and 39 program implementations. Five projects operated as demonstrations for having been in-state validated.

In addition to utilization of funds at the local level, $650,385 was used in FY 1981 for strengthening the leadership services of the Department of Education.

In FY 1981, ESEA IV-C made a successful fourth continuation application to the U. S. Department of Education for the state facilitator project and was refunded at $43,061. This project, first funded in FY 1977, was for the purpose of matching nationally approved programs to particular educational needs in the state.

Elimination of Sex Discrimination

The Office for the Elimination of Sex Discrimination was responsible for providing services to county boards of education under Title IV of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972. Assistance was provided for equal educational opportunities, improving human relations in the schools and problems emanating from sex discrimination. The office assisted educators, students and parents in nonsexist education, the elimination of sex discrimination, human relations and students rights and responsibilities.

Child Nutrition

All child nutrition programs available through the U. S. Department of Agriculture are administered by the West Virginia Department of Education under the authority provided in the National School Lunch Act of 1946 and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966. These feeding programs channel federal funds to assist in providing nutritionally adequate meals and/or supplements to children who attend public and private schools, residential child care institutions, child care and Head Start centers, summer camps, and family day care homes.

The School Lunch program was available during 1980-81 in nearly all public schools, 30 private schools, and 32 residential child care institutions. In addition, 588 of the public schools, 4 private schools, and 32 institutions provided the school breakfast program. The special milk program was available in 525 of these facilities. For preschool children, meals and supplements were provided under the child care food program to 145 child care and Head Start centers and in 500 family day care homes. During the summer of 1981, 150 local sponsors provided summer feeding programs in 500 summer camps. Federal funding for these child feeding programs amounted to nearly $30 million for FY 1981.

Federal funds for food service equipment were distributed in the amount of $245,852 for schools and institutions and $41,413 for child care centers. In addition, the Nutrition Education and Training Program provided $118,171 for dissemination of nutrition information to schools and for inservice training of food service and teaching personnel. This program has been extended to include 29 counties providing training in nutrition education to nearly 1,500 teachers. Competency-based training is being developed for the school food service personnel.

School Transportation

The 55 counties operated 2,862 school buses on regular routes, transporting 289,442 pupils to school each day. Through safe operation of the buses the year was completed without fatalities, and with few minor injuries to pupils on board the buses. One pupil fatality occurred in Wetzel County after the bus had departed and the pupil was walking home from the bus stop.

All persons employed as school bus operators were trained in the preservice phase of the West Virginia Uniform School Bus Operator Training Program. All bus operators received training in the advanced phase of the program, and refresher training in the preservice phase. Transportation division personnel assisted counties with bus operator training on a limited basis. The state director conducted instructor training seminars to certify county personnel as instructors in the bus operator training program.

With the cooperation of the West Virginia Department of Finance and Administration, 263 school buses were purchased through the central bid process. Fifty-four counties participated in the process.

The school bus inspection program, under the supervision of the Division of School Transportation, completed its third full year. All buses were inspected three times. Buses used in summer programs were inspected a fourth time. As a direct result of the inspection program, preventative maintenance of the buses continues to improve. Two counties were cited for having an unusually high number of defects. The state average for the last inspection was 1.368 defects per bus. The transportation division continue to offer consulting assistance to the counties for planning and implementing school bus maintenance programs.

This year, for the first time, the transportation director and a bus inspector inspected pilot models and observed the assembly line construction of both chassis and bodies of West Virginia school buses. This helped to eliminate many of the problems generally associated with new buses when received by the counties.

School Facilities Planning/ Energy Management

Under bureau leadership, the Division of School Facilities Planning and Energy Management was responsible for the coordination of the better school building construction program and the energy management program in the public schools.

In addition to assisting the county boards of education in revisions and amendments to their comprehensive educational facilities plans, site selections, project surveys and final inspections of completed facilities, the division staff coordinates the Department of Education's activities related to the review and approval of plans and specifications for building projects with the department's Bureau of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education, the state fire marshal's office, the departments of health, highways and vocational rehabilitation.

The School Lunch program was available during 1980-81 in nearly all public schools, 30 private schools, and 32 residential child care institutions.

The state average for the last inspection was 1.368 defects per bus.

Through safe operation of the buses the year was completed without fatalities.

The staff reviewed and the State Board of Education approved 65 school construction projects totaling $54,115,346.01 during the year.

Every county system is now actively involved in the department's school energy management program.

The staff reviewed and the State Board of Education approved 65 school construction projects totaling $54,115,346.01 during the year. Total projects approved since the inception of the building program numbered 895, with a total project cost of $435,929,891.56.

The $200 million Better School Buildings Amendment funds have made it possible for the 55 county school systems to participate in a comprehensive building program that surpasses any previous period in our state's history.

It is indicative of the aggressive implementation of the Better School Building Amendment that comprehensive educational facilities plans for all 55 counties, totaling $639,574,827.70, have been approved by the State Board of Education.

Tables on the following pages summarize total anticipated construction dollars for each county, project approvals and funding sources, projects completed to date and bond election attempts.

Tabe I shows the total project costs and funding sources for each of the 55 county comprehensive educational facilities plans. State better school building entitlement funds represent 34.38% of the total program costs, with 56.24% coming from local funds and 9.36% from state/federal vocational and other funds.

Table II summarizes the 895 construction projects that have been approved by the State Board of Education. Projects authorized or under construction have a budgeted cost of $435,929,891.56. State entitlement funds account for $195,065,142.32. The balance is made up of $191,577,264.20 in local funds and $49,287,485.04 in vocational and other funds.

Table III summarizes the projects that have been completed to date. Forty-two of the 55 counties have completed one or more projects since the inception of the Better School Building program. The 386 completed projects represent $111,145,793.47 in state funds, $99,219.632.56 in local and $30,058,953.96 in state/federal vocational and other funds.

Table IV summarizes bond election history since 1972. The availability of Better School Building Amendment funds has provided a powerful incentive to the counties in developing and implementing comprehensive building programs to meet their educational needs. Twenty-nine of the 55 counties have had successful bond elections, generating a total of $158,287.000. One county passed two bond issues since the inception of the better school program, totaling $22,585,000.

The division staff coordinates the department's energy management program in the West Virginia public schools. This program is funded with federal department of energy dollars through the West Virginia Fuel and Energy Office of the Governor's Office of Economic and Community Development.

Every county system is now actively involved in the department's school energy management program. Pertinent energy data has been collected and disseminated indicating an eight percent decrease in heating energy usage. The staff reviewed for the West Virginia Fuel and Energy Office county applications for Energy Conservation Measures grant funds under Cycle III, Title III of the National Energy Conservation Policy Act of 1978, for compliance with county comprehensive educational facilities plans. Twenty-three counties will receive grant funds totaling $1,206,626 for energy conservation renovations.

Foster Grandparent

The Foster Grandparent Program is a special and unique program that provides opportunities for caring older persons to provide love and attention to children with special needs.

On March 1, 1981, the West Virginia Department of Education became the first department of education in the country to sponsor such a program. The Foster Grandparent Program, formerly sponsored under the West Virginia Commission on Aging for eight years, utilizes the talents and life experiences of some 68 low-income seniors, with children in certain elementary schools systems, day care centers, hospital pediatric wards and a Head Start Program. The participants from five counties -- Doddridge, Harrison, Taylor, Randolph and Kanawha -- spent four hours daily, five days a week, helping their assigned children at an approved location in the community where they live.

In return for their service, foster grandparents received a small, hourly stipend to supplement their below-poverty incomes. In addition, they receive a daily hot meal, an annual physical examination, reimbursement for transportation costs, and workmen's compensation coverage.

This program is federally funded by ACTION, with state matching funds from the Commission on Aging.

Veterans Education And Training

The Division of Veterans Education and Training was responsible for the approval and supervision of courses in non-college degree institutions and apprenticeship and other on-the-job training programs in West Virginia. During FY 1981, active training establishments and institutions numbered 424.

The Veterans Administration, due to a lack of funds with which to reimburse states, assumed approval and supervisory responsibility for apprenticeship and other on-the-job training programs October 1, 1980. Congress restored funds in December, 1980, returning the approval and supervisory responsibility to the states on January 1, 1981.

Disaster Relief

In August, 1980, school facilities in five counties were damaged by flood, and as a result the President, upon request of the Governor, declared the affected areas as a major disaster. The declaration under P.L. 81-874 and P.L. 81-815 provided federal funds to eligible major disaster area schools in the counties. The counties and schools were as follow, including the financial damage as determined by the U. S. Department of Education survey team with assistance from the West Virginia Department of Education: Marshall County, three schools, $23,543.00; Monongalia County, thirteen schools, $133,884.56; Ohio County, three schools, $14,500.00; Preston County, three schools, $38,097.92; and Taylor County, two schools, $17,160.44, for a total of $227,185.92.

The above funds are estimates and will change due to latent damage or to some claims by local boards of education that later might be determined not to be eligible. The funds are to be used for operation and maintenance of schools including the replacement of equipment, materials and structural damage that are not covered by insurance or funds from other sources.

One county, Marshall, decided at a later date not to participate in assistance under P.L. 81-874 due to flood insurance requirements. Several other schools had minor debris clean-up but indicated they would not request federal assistance.

Recommendations

1. That the legislature provide funds for the School Facilities Planning Division which has the responsibility for reviewing, approving and monitoring all school plans and amendments associated with the mandated 200 million dollar Better School Building Program. This request is not for increased spending by the division, but for a transfer of funding responsibility from an exhausted federal source to state funds. In addition and pursuant to Senate Bill 15 (§18-9A-12, Facilities Planning), it is requested that the legislature appropriate funds for the employment of additional staff to provide professional planning and assistance at both the state and local level to improve, expand and maintain school facilities on a state-wide basis. The requested staff would consist of an architect/planner, planner/coordinator, and secretary.

2. That the legislature appropriate funds to provide for additional travel requirements for the regional supervisors of the state's school lunch program.

3. That the legislature appropriate funds to provide each of the school bus inspectors with a brake test meter.

4. That the legislature appropriate funds to provide for adequate staff and materials for the department's educational media center.

5. That the legislature appropriate funds to employ an additional staff member in the school transportation division.

Bureau of Learning Systems

Special emphasis was given to the development of educational programs to assist in the attainment of the Educational Goals for West Virginia.

The Bureau of Learning Systems provided leadership to county school systems, institutions of higher education, regional education service agencies, teacher education centers, professional organizations, and the public in the implementation of a comprehensive educational program. The bureau coordinated its leadership, service, technical assistance, and regulatory roles toward the initiation, maintenance, and continuous renewal of educational programs in the schools.

These programs involve the education of children with special needs; the provision of services centering on the personal, social, psychological, and physical needs of pupils; the systematic collection, storage, and dissemination of information; and the professional development of educational personnel to meet pupil needs.

During the past year the bureau continued to emphasize the individualization of learning by pupils and educational personnel and a three-level programmatic framework composed of early, middle, and adolescent education as the basis of educational program development. The decade of the 1980's is viewed as a time for specific policy and program development related to this educational framework through the systematic coordination of bureau staff, processes, and programs. The four divisions of the bureaus are committed to strengthening current programs and generating new developments to assist individuals and groups, both public and private, in their efforts to provide educational opportunities to enhance the learning of pupils.

Division of Instructional Learning Systems

The Division of Instructional Learning Systems provided leadership, technical assistance, and service to county school systems in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of each county's comprehensive educational program as it may relate to the nursery through grade 12 learning continuum, early childhood education, middle childhood education, and adolescent education.

Leadership

Leadership activities organized and offered by the division at the state, regional, county, and school levels provided opportunities for instructional personnel throughout the state to become acquainted and knowledgeable concerning new educational programs and procedures.

Special emphasis was given to the development of educational programs to assist in the attainment of the Educational Goals for West Virginia.

A Program for Improving Reading Achievement. The division provided inservice training packages that were implemented with county reading administrators from each of the counties, who in turn implemented the packages by providing inservice training to the principals and classroom teachers. The essential competencies and learner outcomes for early and middle childhood were revised and a draft document for adolescent education was developed. The division initiated and completed a pilot research and development project in the area of classroom management and the improvement through the systematic change of teacher behavior.

A Program for Improving Mathematics Achievement. The West Virginia Board of Education formally identified mathematics and the other basic skills as the top curriculum priority for West Virginia schools. A mathematics action plan based upon the work of the Mathematics Task Force was developed, approved, and implemented.

Early Childhood Education, Middle Childhood Education, and Adolescent Education. Division staff worked with superintendents, principals, teachers and personnel representing regional education service agencies, teacher education centers, and institutions of higher education in the development of educational programs for students in accordance with the programmatic definition in early childhood, middle childhood, and adolescent education.

The West Virginia Board of Education approved new graduation requirements for adolescent education. These new graduation requirements, forthcoming standards and the adolescent education programmatic definition serve as priority documents in the development of adolescent education programs for students.

The division, working in cooperation with county school systems and institutions of higher education, sponsored statewide conferences in adolescent education and middle childhood education. These conferences were directed toward the development skills, as they relate to program developments in adolescent education and middle childhood education.

Division personnel cooperatively worked with other bureaus, agencies and organizations in developing programs through projects involving the Governor's Commission on Crime and Delinquency, West Virginia Regional Medical Project, Manpower Development Project, Governor's Highway Safety Administration, Governor's Fuel and Energy Office, Alliance for the Arts and Kennedy Center, Appalachian Educational Laboratory, Agency for Instructional Television -- WMUL-TV, WWVU-TV -- North Central Association and many specific subject matter organizations.

Administration

The administrative role of the division was primarily that of managing programs and implementing regulations and standards as set forth by state and federal agencies and legal enactments.

The division was responsible for administering the elementary textbook adoption program, issuing book seals and attendance certificates, classifying elementary and secondary schools holding or seeking membership in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, classifying all other schools within the state, administering the state appropriation for driver education, implementing the state basic skills and right-to-read programs, managing the department's child development centers, maintaining course code listings, and conducting a teacher out-of-field study at the secondary level.

Services

Services to the state, regions, counties, colleges, and schools were provided to assist the respective personnel in the improvement of educational opportunities for pupils and the professional growth of educational personnel.

The service role is one of assisting in the planning, implementing, and evaluating of the educational activities identified as priorities by the individuals or groups requesting the services. The service role was implemented as division staff:

1. provided conferences, workshops, and state meetings that involved personnel and agencies on a state, regional, local, and school building level.

2. served on conference planning committees for meetings conducted by state and national organizations. Others were presenters at their respective professional organization meetings.

3. assisted regional education service agencies in implementing activities in the regions to upgrade learner achievement.

4. assisted other state agencies and department bureaus in coordinating educational television programming, civil preparedness, environmental and energy conservation, and drug education programs; consumer and career education; and Golden Horseshoe activities.

Division of Professional Development Systems

The Division of Professional Development Systems conducted activities with a major emphasis on supporting the directions of educational programs for pupils as a basis for developing, maintaining, and redesigning policy and programs for educational personnel development. The division also directed resources and activities toward the need to facilitate communication between and among the major constituent groups involved in teacher education, continuing education, and the certification of educational personnel.

Teacher Education

The teacher education section continued to meet its responsibilities for implementing the program approval model for the initial development of educational personnel. This included the continuous review of standards, conducting on-site evaluations of programs at institutions of higher education, providing technical assistance in program development and acting as liaison to colleges and universities.

Revision of Standards

A major activity during the fiscal year was the continuation of tasks related to the revision of the teacher education standards and approval processes. The institutional standards and approval procedures committee convened to refine the draft on the institutional standards. Programmatic committees for early childhood, middle childhood, and adolescent education met to refine role descriptions appropriate to the programmatic areas.

The division was responsible for administering the elementary textbook adoption program.

A concept paper outlined a model for teacher education in West Virginia.

A major accomplishment during the year was the development of a concept paper pertaining to the revision of the teacher education standards. The concept paper outlined a model for teacher education in West Virginia which placed considerable emphasis upon the assessment of cognitive and performance outcomes in the program approval process.

The assessments would include testing of skills and knowledges related to basic skills, general education, the content review by the West Virginia Department of Education staff, the West Virginia Professional Development of Educational personnel, and institutions of higher education in the state. The concept paper provides a working framework for continuing activities related to the revision of the teacher education standards.

The concept paper provides a working framework for continuing activities related to the revision of the teacher education standards.

Generally, the framework for the revision enjoyed favorable acceptance. However, professional education groups raised a number of significant issues related to the operationalizing of the concepts. The Department of Education plans to solicit broad input into the application of the concepts in an approved program process.

Technical Assistance and Program Approval

Since the approval period for five institutions had expired during the fiscal year, a format was developed for the preparation of interim reports on the status of teacher education at the institutions. The teacher preparation section worked with five institutions in the preparation of these interim reports which were subsequently forwarded to the West Virginia Board of Education.

The teacher preparation section continued its on-site evaluation of teacher education programs. One type of on-site evaluation pertained to the review of deficiencies in programs that had been identified in major campus visits during the previous cycle of on-site evaluations. Consequently, four institutions were the subject of continuous assessment evaluations. It is important to note that the 17 institutions of higher education which prepare teachers in West Virginia have virtually complied with all of the standards for the approval of teacher education programs in West Virginia. This is a major accomplishment since the on-site evaluation process is a rigorous process both in terms of procedures and standards that are included in the on-site model.

The teacher preparation section also worked with institutions of higher education in the preparation and evaluation of new and experimental teacher education programs. New or experimental programs in special education were proposed by Concord College, Fairmont State College, and West Virginia University. The University of Charleston became the first institution in the state to offer an experimental program in multicategorical special education, and Marshall University joined West Virginia University in the offering of an athletic trainer program for undergraduate and graduate candidates.

Information Dissemination

The teacher preparation section continued its function of information sharing among the West Virginia colleges and beyond. Presentations were made at the first Adolescent Education Conference in Huntington. The teacher preparation staff also prepared a booklet entitled Approved Teacher Education Programs in West Virginia as was required by the Interstate Certification Project (ICP). Again, the staff cooperated with the National Education Association in the compiling of data for the annual teacher supply and demand report for West Virginia. All of the teacher preparation institutions in West Virginia have provided data for the state summary report and thus have contributed to the data base for decisions about teacher education programs in West Virginia.

Continuing Education

The Division of Professional Development Systems coordinates the systematic implementation of the department's program for continuing education of educational personnel; designs a continuing education alternative which provides for certificate renewal and salary classification via county continuing education activities offered outside the 200 contract days; and coordinates a statewide network of teacher education centers.

The aforementioned activities will assure high quality continuing education activities; ensure the smooth operation of the program and provide data to be used in modifying the program to meet changing needs; maintain a high level of involvement of teachers and council members; provide a more active, positive involvement of West Virginia educational personnel in continuing education activities; and provide for certificate renewal and salary classifications based on an alternative to the current statute required graduate credit. The new alternative in continuing education will be based on county and teacher needs. The teacher education centers provide a means through which the resources of the Institutions of Higher Education, local education agencies, and the State Department of Education can be focused on specific pre-service and inservice activities which ultimately have a positive effect upon pupil development.

Accomplishments

The continuing education section of the division had four basic responsibilities during the 1980-81 fiscal year. Each of the responsibilities is identified below and is further described by the activities conducted relative to it.

The section's main function is the coordination of the implementation of the department's systematic program for the continuing education of educational personnel in the 55 county school districts. During the summer of 1980, the county continuing education plans were received and evaluated. During FY-81, members of six continuing education councils were trained. Two meetings were held for the 55 county continuing education coordinators - regional meetings in the fall and a group meeting in March. A detailed report of the monitoring will be submitted to the state board in October 1981. On September 19 and 20, 1980, a workshop for persons interested in stress management training was held. Throughout the school year, members of the continuing education section staff visited or participated in county continuing education training programs.

The West Virginia Advisory Council on the Professional Development of Educational Personnel continued to work closely with section and division staff in refining a proposal for individualized continuing education. By the end of April, the proposal was ready for dissemination to other interested organizations such as the West Virginia Education Association and the Board of Regents. As currently conceived, the individualized continuing option will involve job-related training, will be based on individualized needs assessments, and will be coordinated through institutions of higher education.

The coordination of the statewide network of seven teacher education centers is the third major responsibility of the section. Three meetings for the teacher education center directors were held. The meetings provided an opportunity for the directors to share information about successful programming and solve problems of common concern, such as placing student teachers, addressing the needs of beginning teachers and offering training to supervising teachers. In June 1980, the continuation requests for the seven centers were reviewed. In July, recommendations for funding were made to the State Board of Education.

Throughout the year, staff from the continuing education section attended most of the monthly meetings held by the seven teacher education centers and offered technical assistance in program development. Two teacher education centers (RESA-6 and MITEC) were visited by a team for the purpose of assessing the strengths and weaknesses of the center. A staff member worked with the Kanawha County Teacher Corps Project. West Virginia is one of five states which had not received teacher center funding in FY-81. A proposal was submitted by the Barbour County Schools for FY-82.

Educational Personnel Certification

Staff members in certification have continued to streamline the application processing procedures.

This section of the division achieved several major goals during the 1980-81 year which have resulted in increased efficiency of certificate processing, liaison roles to counties and colleges, improved relationships with counties from a service orientation, and improved communication with other sections of the division and other bureaus within the department.

Increased Efficiency. Staff members in certification have continued to streamline the application processing procedures which resulted in the elimination of a backlog of several thousand applications and a three week turnaround time from the date an application is received, sent to the computer center and mailed. This turnaround time is now viewed as efficient in light of staff limitations and responsibilities.

During the year, 19,246 applications related to original certificates, renewal, conversion, permanence and salary classification were processed.

Processing Applications. During the year, 19,246 applications related to original certificates, renewal, conversion, permanence and salary classification were processed. These applications included request for professional teaching, administrative and service certificates; temporary licenses; certificates via the National Teacher Examinations; and authorizations. Also, staff continued the processing of original certificates on-site at institutions of higher education which has resulted in more efficient, accurate and timely processing of applications.

Interstate Reciprocity. Participation in the Interstate Reciprocity Agreement continued. The number of states cooperating with West Virginia remained at approximately 35. The issue of competency tests imposed by some states continued to be a major issue to be addressed. West Virginia achieved a leadership position within the compact since the coordinator of educational personnel certification was chairman of the finance committee and task force to increase the viability of the reciprocity concept.

Interstate contracts for the 1980-85 cycle were implemented for administrative, service, and vocational personnel in addition to teaching certificates. The number of states participating in these areas (approximately six) continued to be very low by comparison with teacher contracts due to greater differences among states in requirements.

The State-County Testing Program (SCTP) provided testing, scoring and reporting services for approximately 125,000 students.

Technical Assistance and Liaison Roles. The certification staff, in addition to technical assistance via telephone with all counties, conducted training and assistance activities in Taylor, Kanawha, Mason, Lincoln, McDowell, Putnam, Cabell, Mineral, Marion, Monongalia, Logan, Wood, Preston and Boone counties.

Assistance activities were also conducted by staff for Bluefield State College, Concord College, Glenville State College, Fairmont State College, Alderson-Broaddus College, Davis and Elkins College, West Virginia Institute of Technology, West Virginia Wesleyan College, University of Charleston, Marshall University, West Virginia University and West Liberty State College.

Additionally, the section coordinator continued to be actively involved in the committees working for the revision of teacher education standards, review of teacher education programs, and revision of certification patterns.

Out-of-State Activities. The coordinator continued to represent the state at both Interstate Certification Compact and National Association of State Directors of Teacher Education and Certification meetings.

Division of Evaluation and Information Systems

Testing Programs

The State-County Testing Progam (SCTP) provided testing, scoring and reporting services for approximately 125,000 students. In conjunction with this program, over 90 days of consultant services were provided to county school systems concerning the interpretation and use of SCTP data.

In addition to the reports furnished to third and sixth grade teachers through the State-County Testing Program, optional reports were prepared for 15,500 fourth, seventh, ninth and eleventh grade teachers.

The division continued the development of a criterion referenced testing service.

Training and certification in the administration and interpretation of the General Aptitude Test Battery (GATB) was provided for 60 counselors. Additionally, scoring and reporting services were provided for 5,797 secondary school students who took the GATB.

Research and Evaluation

Information on the persons who dropped out of school during the year was collected and an analysis was made of data on persons who dropped out of school the previous year.

Information on the persons who dropped out of school during the year was collected and an analysis was made of data on persons who dropped out of school during the previous year. The results were reported to educational agencies to aid in needs assessment and program planning. Printed reports for the years 1973-74 through and including 1979-80 were disseminated during 1980-81. Division personnel interpreted the dropout data at a number of educational meetings.

The division performed a major role in the evaluation of the ESEA Title I program. Data collection forms were designed, technical assistance was provided to county educational personnel and an evaluation report was prepared.

Enrollment projections were prepared for all counties and for the entire state. Copies of these projections were furnished to educational agencies.

The division developed plans for two surveys of county school systems. One will be a study of curriculum development practices and the other will be a study of computer utilizations.

Two major conferences sponsored by the Department of Education were evaluated by members of the division staff. These conferences were the Middle Childhood Education Conference and the Adolescent Education Conference.

Personnel from the division had major responsibilities for the completion of a review of procedures used in other states for the evaluation and classification of schools and school districts.

The staff of the division constructed a data base containing home, school and community variables and student outcome variables. This data base will be used to determine the relationships among these variables.

Technical Assistance

Extensive consultative services were provided to state and local educational agency personnel, in particular the social studies task force.

Members of the division staff read and critiqued a number of project proposals associated with the ESEA Title IV-C program.

Division of Special Education and Student Support Systems

The Division of Special Education and Student Support Systems has worked to expand and improve the educational programs and services offered to exceptional and regular education students in the state. Some major indicators of progress in delivery of services rest in the number of programs and students served.

Student Support Services

The Student Support Services' staff implemented the Supervised Entry Level Counselor Program in 23 counties. This program, required for all new counselors seeking certification, includes a supervised field-based experience throughout the first year of employment. A staff member, accompanied by a counselor educator, made three visits to each of the 36 new counselors to assure the involvement in appropriate role activities. The new counselors also were required to attend one workshop designed by the staff and devoted to special education due process procedures and regulations, as well as techniques for meeting the counseling needs of special students.

The staff also focused on providing technical assistance to 22 counties in the initiation and development of comprehensive guidance programs. Much of the work was in needs assessment, goal setting, objectives writing and planning implementation strategies.

Special Education

According to the Second Month Report, 1980-81, a total of 39,032 exceptional students were served, an overall gain of 2,687 students. The number of professional personnel serving the exceptional students was 3,033 in 1980-81, an increase of 500 positions.

Members of the division, along with other agencies, associations and groups worked extensively with subcommittees of the legislature to support continued funding for special education, which goes beyond that provided within the school aid formula. The resultant funding for Account 2960, aid for Exceptional Children, totaled $7,526,748.

The Annual Program Plan for Fiscal Years 1981-83, required under Public Law 94-142, The Education of all Handicapped Children Act, Title VI, Part B, was completed and approved. This resulted in funding of $7,459,706. A Pre-School Incentive Grant for Fiscal Year 1981 was submitted to the U. S. Office of Special Education concurrently with the Annual Program Plan. Pre-School funding amounted to $131,561. Project proposals were submitted under Title VI, Part D and Title VI, Part C of the Act for training and programming for deaf/blind students, respectively. The Part D proposal was funded for $67,000 and Part C at $138,559.

The major portions of both state and Title VI, Part B funds were distributed to counties via a county plan approval process. Therefore, county plan documents were developed, distributed, reviewed and approved for both funding sources.

A proposal was submitted for a state-administered grant for the gifted and talented. The proposal was funded for $116,000. These monies were awarded to the counties via a competitive grant process. It provided for the identification of, and special educational services to, economically disadvantaged gifted students, and the development of model programs for intellectually gifted students.

Monitoring

A major administrative responsibility of the Division of Special Education and Student Support Systems was monitoring the implementation of state and federal laws and regulations. The division conducted comprehensive program evaluations in 11 counties and administrative monitoring reviews in 18 counties. Three Department of Health facilities: Huntington State Hospital, Spencer State Hospital and Weston State Hospital and eight Department of Corrections facilities: Leckie Center, West Virginia Industrial School for Girls, West Virginia Industrial School for Boys, Huttonsville Correction Center, West Virginia Prison for Women, Anthony Center, West Virginia Penitentiary and Davis Center were monitored.

The monitoring/evaluation acitivites were designed to determine a school system's or facility's compliance with state and federal regulations and to identify training and technical assistance needs.

General Educational Development Testing (GED)

The assistant state superintendent of the Bureau of Learning Systems is the appointed state administrator for the GED testing program. The state administrator has the day to day responsibility for policy implementation, administration of the program, supervision of the 50 official GED testing centers

According to the Second Month Report, 1980-81, a total of 39,032 exceptional students were served, an overall gain of 2,687 students.

The number of professional personnel serving the exceptional students was 3,033 in 1980-81, an increase of 500 positions.

During fiscal year 1980-81, 7,390 equivalent diplomas were issued to qualified adults, a 19% increase over the previous year.

within the state, processing and issuing the State High School Equivalent Diploma. During fiscal year 1980-81, 7,390 equivalent diplomas were issued to qualified adults, a 19% increase over the previous year.

Recommendations

That funds be appropriated to continue support of:

1. the operation of the State-County Testing Program.
2. the operation of the network of teacher education centers.

Bureau of Vocational, Technical & Adult Education

The Bureau of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education had responsibility during FY 1980-81 for planning, developing, administering, supervising and evaluating vocational and technical education programs, services and activities to the extent necessary to assure quality services for the 159,000 state citizens enrolled in vocational programs during the year.

The West Virginia Board of Education has directed that the staff of this bureau function in two major divisions, administration and planning and program services. This report is organized accordingly.

During the year, 82,380 high school students were enrolled in secondary vocational programs.

Administration & Planning

Secondary & Special Programs

During the year, 82,380 high school students were enrolled in secondary vocational programs administered by this administration and planning unit. In addition, 1,215 post high school students were served. The job placement rate for graduates of secondary programs was approximately 88 percent. More than 60 percent of the state's secondary students were enrolled in vocational education programs during this year.

The unit established productive liaison during the year with a newly-formed statewide special education advocacy group, Parents Advocating Vocational Education (PAVE). Unit staff also:

- Spearheaded nine agreements in which county special education departments, vocational education and vocational rehabilitation will cooperate in serving handicapped students.
- Harmonized special education and vocational education record keeping.
- Organized support services to mainstream handicapped students into training areas not previously accessible.
- Reviewed all construction plans to assure that handicapped students have full access to and through all vocational schools.
- Helped establish a standardized evaluation and placement procedure involving both special and vocational educators.
- Continued the concerted effort to make all vocational programs available to handicapped students.

The unit also administered cooperative education and placement programs and the Targeted Jobs Tax Credit Program, under which 1,480 cooperative students were certified during this year.

Postsecondary & Adult Programs

Adult preparatory programs, for which the bureau provided funding support for instructor salaries and fixed costs, served 4,324 students, many in new programs in Cabell, Grant, Greenbrier, Logan, Marshall, Mercer, Monongalia and Randolph counties. Emphasis was on scheduling these full-time programs in the late afernoon or evening to better meet the needs of adults.

This bureau unit continued to cooperate with the West Virginia Board of Regents in supporting postsecondary (associate degree) programs in 16 colleges for 11,628 students.

More than 50,000 adult citizens in all counties participated in at least one of the part time vocational education programs in occupational or consumer/homemaking areas. An additional 15,000 adults were enrolled in special interest courses at vocational facilities.

The unit administered 2,500 classes in 253 facilities with an average of 11 adults enrolled for an average 48 hours of instruction during the year.

New and Expanding Industry Training (NEIT) services continued to expand, serving 7,500 persons. Firms and agencies served included Mobay Chemical Co., Volkswagen of America, Controll Systems, General Motors, Eagle Convex Glass, Braxton County Memorial Hospital, American Woodmark, Weston State Hospital, Liberty Electro, Weirton Steel, Queue Systems, Stauffer Chemical, DuPont, Ohio Valley Steel, Blaw Know Steel and Anchor Hocking Glass.

Unit staff assisted Wierton Steel in producing manuals to train operators for the first computerized rolling mill in the United States. Staff also assisted in setting up a staff training program for the new Huntington Mall, the first program of its type in the nation.

The unit administered 80-hour and 40-hour miner orientation programs, with 3,741 students in underground and 2,992 students in surface training.

Working with the Literacy Volunteers of America, unit staff helped found five county affiliates of the organization. Also, staff conducted public hearings, screened private school curricula, assisted in the startup of six career assessment and counseling centers and worked with state educational television stations and Kentucky Educational Television to provide programming keyed to adult education programs.

CETA/YETP

More than 6,000 adults participated in CETA programs, with 1,400 students in full-time skill training classes with 15 to 20 students. More than 1,900 CETA eligible students were mainstreamed into adult preparatory or secondary vocational/technical skill training programs.

Working in cooperation with the Employment and Training Division of the Governor's Office of Economic and Community Development, staff modified eight county programs, and with the money saved, conducted additional summer training programs. Intra-bureau cooperation involved this unit with adult education staff, New and Expanding Industry Training and the Private Industry Council.

More than 2,700 youth were served through in-school YETP programs, and in excess of 400 youth participated in programs at other than school sites. The percentage of trainees obtaining employment rose to 66, up from 35 percent as recent as 1979-80. The Governor's Grant YETP program in Harrison County received a national outstanding program award.

Data, Planning & Supportive Information

This unit conducted regional program planning meetings attended by 62 of the 63 LEAs, coordinated preparation of the state plan and accountability report, conducted vocational education public hearing attended by 348 citizens, processed and checked all LEA plans, collected enrollment and placement data, updated the five-year plan, provided inservice training of teachers and administrators and maintained liaison with V-TECS.

Unit staff also developed a vocational education fact book, collected massive amounts of data relating to the Pauley vs. Bailey case and federal audits of county school systems and coordinated construction of vocational facilities in Barbour, Preston, Greenbrier, Monroe, Hancock, Cabell, Wayne and Hardy counties. Staff also assisted in the preparation of Appalachian Regional Commission proposals from Kanawha, Mason, Lewis, Wirt and Summers counties and the PRT and United Career multi-county centers.

Administration

Staff prepared and reviewed state plans and numerous budgets, implemented a computerized allocation system, prepared and distributed policy and procedural changes, cooperated with the state joint apprenticeship and training committee, planned and conducted four state conferences for local administrators and conducted a mock audit in preparation for a major federal audit.

Elimination of Sex Bias

Staff conducted inservice and continuing education programs in Calhoun, Preston, Mercer, Boone, Fayette, Braxton and Barbour counties and provided technical assistance to 63 LEA's in revising plans, goals and objectives to overcome sex bias and stereotyping. Also, the unit administered six anti-bias projects and one project designed to provide support services for women. A further responsibility of staff was to review all vocational programs, grant applications and curricula to asure that they remained free of sex bias and stereotyping.

Program Services

Staff in this second major division, in addition to regular responsibilities for vocational curriculum and instruction, also:

- Assisted with revision of teacher education standards.
- Assisted with the development of educational standards as required by S.B. 15.
- Developed an applied math course for vocational education.
- Participated in the revision of the high school graduation requirements.
- Designed a regional adoption plan for competency-based curriculum.
- Helped develop an administrator's certification program.
- Designed and initiated new pre- and inservice training programs for teachers.
- Assisted vocational schools in achieving North Central Association (NCA) accreditation. (The state's 24 accredited schools are the most in any NCA state.)
- Evaluated 11 county school systems.
- Conducted 14 personnel development institutes.

Staff conducted the annual FFA Ham, Bacon and Egg show, in which students sold $53,000 worth of commodities.

Instruction Services

Vocational agriculture training involved 5,753 secondary students, 5,005 of whom held membership in the Future Farmers of America. Staff conducted the annual FFA Ham, Bacon and Egg Show, in which students sold $53,000 worth of commodities. More than 600 students attended the State FFA Leadership Conference and Convention, and 200 students went to the national FFA conference.

Vocational distributive education programs involved 3,212 secondary students, with division staff administering state/federal funds for cooperative and placement programs. Staff developed a new real estate agent curriculum to meet standards established by the West Virginia Legislature, hosted a regional conference of the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) at Harper's Ferry, organized an unprecedented training conference at the new Huntington Mall, supervised all DECA activities and worked out an agreement with vocational rehabilitation for mainstreaming handicapped students into cooperative programs.

There were 1,153 secondary and 148 postgraduate students enrolled in health occupational training during the year. Staff assisted four counties in starting new programs, started adult supplemental programs for LPNs, assisted NEIT staff in a program for training hospital staff, conducted workshops for teachers and revised the evaluation instruments for health occupation programs.

Consumer and homemaking classes involved 22,150 secondary students during the year, and an additional 805 secondary students and 45 postgraduate students were enrolled in occupational home economics programs. Staff conducted inservice programs in eight counties, conducted on-site evaluation in 14 counties and obtained occupational home economics endorsements from Marshall University for food service, fabric services and child care programs. Staff continued supervision of the growing adult roles and functions curriculum, coordinated a year-long handicapped awareness project and supervised all student organization activities.

There were 26,856 secondary and 184 postgraduate students enrolled in office occupation programs during the year. Division staff concentrated their efforts on curriculum improvement and redirection of programs, conducting workshops and in-service programs and supervising the preparation of curricula. Staff continued to oversee the expansion of word and data processing curricula. More than 1,000 students attended the state Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) conference and regional meetings, all coordinated by division staff. FBLA membership increased by 350 members during the year.

Division staff supervised trade and industrial occupation programs in which 13,409 secondary and 598 postgraduate students were enrolled. Staff also had responsibility for technical occupation training programs involving 756 secondary and 148 postgraduate students. In addition to conducting program evaluation in 11 counties, staff developed five new program guides, helped set up NEIT training programs for seven companies, revised and standardized all evaluation instruments, coordinated energy conservation efforts and supervised the largest-ever Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) Skill Olympics, in which 400 students from 45 counties participated.

Career Education

The division disbursed funds under PL 94-207 (Career Education Incentive Act) to 15 counties at the middle grade level, an increase of two. Prevocational programs involving 8,238 students in 107 programs in 35 counties were supervised by staff, along with related evaluations, curriculum development, technical assistance and personnel development. Staff also developed plans for handicapped students and designed new prevocational curricula for health, public service and manufacturing.

The division funded a new vocational guidance counselor position, bringing to 39 the number of counties receiving such funds. Also during the year the division provided support for 26 vocational job placement coordinators.

Curriculum Laboratory

During the year, the laboratory circulated 3,488 items, supplied 16,032 requests, cataloged 1,729 materials, printed 53 curricula, conducted 62 meetings and workshops and hosted 628 visitors. Staff coordinated the collection of energy conservation curriculum items, began development of a vocational math course to meet new graduation requirements and coordinated the development of numerous competency-based curriculum packages.

Public Service Training

Staff supervised the training of 15,408 persons employed as law enforcement officers, firefighters (paid and volunteer), water and wastewater plant operators, emergency medical technicians and mine emergency medical technicians in all 55 counties. Staff developed new curricula for firefighters and emergency medical technicians.

Community Education

Staff conducted inservice and awareness sessions for educators and lay persons, provided liaison between the division and county community education personnel, conducted statewide workshops and conferences and provided technical assistance in 14 counties. Fifteen counties received staff assistance with promotional activities. Community education programs continue to grow, particularly in providing educational, cultural, recreational, nutritional and health services to senior citizens.

Recommendations

- Funds be provided for startup of five vocational facilities which will have programs opening in the fall, 1982.
- Funds be provided for construction of one new vocational facility and expansion of eight additional facilities and eight regional education facilities for firefighters.
- Funds be appropriated for equipping nine new vocational facilities for programs opening in the fall, 1982.
- Funds be provided so that an additional 2,000 adults may improve their basic literacy skills.
- Additional funds be provided for replacement of worn and obsolete equipment.
- Funds be provided for the promotion and expansion of community education programs in each county of the state.
- Funds be provided to increase the 40-hour and 80-hour miner orientation classes and meet the needs of new plant startups and plant expansion training.
- Funds be provided for expansion of the assemby hall and to meet fire marshal requirements in several buildings at Cedar Lakes.

During the year, the laboratory circulated 3,488 items, supplied 16,032 requests, cataloged 1,729 materials, printed 53 curricula, conducted 62 meetings and workshops and hosted 628 visitors.

The passage of Senate Bill No. 15 brought about a complete revision of the equilization formula for school financing.

Bureau of Finance and Administration

The Bureau of Finance and Administration was responsible for the coordination of the internal organization and operation of the Department of Education and for the development and implementation of administrative programs and projects having statewide application. The bureau provided direct assistance and counsel to administrators at the county and local school levels in administrative matters. It was responsible for the supervision of county school budgets and the budget for the West Virginia Board of Education. The bureau also had the responsibility of transmitting all state and federal funds to county school boards.

Legislation

The passage of Senate Bill No. 15 brought about a complete revision of the equilization formula for school financing with concentration on aiding the counties with the lower average expenditures per pupil.

The minimum salaries for 1981-82 were increased by $1,900 for teachers. The salary scale for service personnel was increased by $56 per month for each pay grade along with an experience increment increase of $3 per month.

Treasurers

Since 1974, county boards of education have been authorized to either continue to appoint the county sheriff as the board's treasurer or appoint the board of education's fiscal officer as the board's treasurer. Presently, forty county boards of education have assumed the responsibilities of the treasurer's function by appointing treasurers other than the county sheriff. Six of these appointments became effective July 1, 1981.

Better School Buildings Amendment

The proceeds of the sale of $200,000,000 of Better School Buildings Amendment bonds were invested until the funds were sent to county boards of education to be used for approved construction projects. The last $50,000,000 of Better Schools Amendment bonds was sold on June 6, 1979.

The Attorney General of West Virginia in February, 1979, issued an opinion concerning the Better School Buildings Amendment. The opinion stated that a county is entitled by statute to draw all of its entitled funds once its comprehensive plan is approved. In June 1979, the state board adopted procedure modifications to conform with the attorney general's opinion as follows:

1. Each county shall receive its total entitlement of Better School Amendment funds upon the full approval by the state board of its Comprehensive Educational Facilities (any Comprehensive Educational Facilities Plan approved with certain contingent provisions is not approved for the purpose of distributing Better School Amendment funds until such contingent provisions have been met).
2. Each county shall submit a complete monthly financial report of its comprehensive educational facilities program project by project.
3. The state board shall continue to approve all plans and specifications after appropriate review by staff and other approval agencies.
4. All interest earned on Better School Amendment funds whether earned at the state or county level shall be applied only to projects included in Comprehensive Educational Facilities Plans approved by the state board. No such interest may be expended without prior approval of the state board.

State Ed, the department news paper which consolidated 17 previously-published subject-matter newsletters, was published nine times in its "inservice in print" mission to state educators and other special publics. In fulfilling the dissemination requirements specified by federal statutes relating to compensatory education, vocational education, special education and numerous other areas, the publication also was distributed to support staff members of county boards of education. State Ed was named recipient of the first prize award for non-profit organizations by the West Virginia Public Relations Society and, in addition, an Award of Distinction was conferred upon it by the National Association of State Department of Education Information Officers. Moreover, State Ed also received a second place award in the West Virginia Press Association's annual award program for associate members, in which competition included publications produced by major coal, oil and chemical companies within the state.

The publications office prepared and distributed department publications and assisted other local school systems, state agencies and educational organizations. Staff members served as consultants to other department personnel and to county school systems, and they prepared vast numbers of publications under countless titles initiated by department personnel. They assisted in the writing, editing, photographing and in graphically preparing enormous amounts of publications for printing.

Certification of Chief School Business Officials

An intensive workshop for school business officials was conducted by department of education staff and qualified county personnel for the purpose of renewal of certification of county chief school business officials. Persons employed prior to July 1, 1976, with five or more years of successfuly service in such a position received permanent authorization, while those with less than five years, were required to renew the authorization annually for the third time to receive permanent authorization. Chief school business officials employed since June 30, 1976, must possess a college degree and enter into a prescribed course of study with annual renewal required through workshops or course completion.

Recommendations

1. That there be an increase greater than 7.5 percent in the minimum salary schedule for 1982-83 for teachers. This will maintain the second year of a four-year plan to meet the level of the estimated national median salary for public school teachers in 1984-85.
